

Radicalisation and Extremism

This is an issue which has been prominent in the media and which is increasingly being highlighted as an area which schools need to educate young people about and provide support and guidance for parents. In response to this we have collated a guidance document for parents which you can download by using the link at the bottom of this page.

Childnet International have created a blog, including links to useful resources and advice which can be read using the link below:

<http://www.childnet.com/blog/online-radicalisation-and-extremism>